

METHOD OF MAKING CAVITIES IN A SEMICONDUCTOR WAFER

ABSTRACT

5 The invention provides a method of making a semiconductor structure that includes a surface layer of silicon, a buried insulating layer, and a substrate. The method includes implanting atoms through at least a portion of the insulating layer; and etching the 10 insulating layer in at least a portion of the layer through which atoms have been implanted.